THE HISTORY OF THE METEORITE

With radiometric dating technique, this meteorite formed 4.56 billion years ago. (The analytic error is around 10 thousand years.) That's is, it's 20 million years older than our mother earth. The meteorite is probably the most acien one among all the meteorites that human found.

About 1 million years ago, the fragment of this meteorite fell into the atmosphere of earth, and separated to many more fragments, falling on the north of Scandinavia, where we know as Sweden and Finland nowadays. The meteorites moved along with the glaciers. Until 1906, human first found this kind of meteorites.

We obtained this meteorite at an auction from a member of the IMCA (International Meteorite Collectors Association), so it is fully authentic. We've Taiwan craftmen handling them carefully and thoughroughly one by one, embedding them on to every Hoverepen 2.0 - Interstellar Edition, and hovering forever on your desk.

- The Muonionalusta Meteorite on the end of the Hoverpen 2.0 is 20 million years older than the Earth itself. No two pens will have the same pattern.
- Every Meteorite Hoverpen will receive an upgraded package, a mysterious space-style gadget, and a unique numbered card with information of the meteorite and its origins.

"Look, a shooting star! This time, we don't make wishes. We grab it."
